I have a 1984 D3b that I ran for the first time today and it has sat for at least the last 4 years. My problem is that I can not turn right at all, when I pull the right steer lever then press the pedal both tracks lock up, but to steer left the machine works fine. Actual adjustment is supposed to be done by tightening the track until all slack is gone then releasing the adjuster until there is x stroke measurement on the adjuster as it slackens.
